GRENVILLE JONES
is Good Afternoon Choir
Project Leader

Our picture shows some of our members from across our Good Afternoon Choirs enjoying a weekend Tour to Cornwall in 2019. We plan to return to Cornwall in 2022.

COME AND JOIN US AND HAVE A GOOD AFTERNOON!

No Auditions - No Auditions - No Auditions!

The Good Afternoon Choirs are a project led by Bath music man Grenville Jones – where the accent is on social singing for people who have afternoons free! You do not have to worry about travelling to rehearsal in the dark, you will be home for the 6 o'clock news! The music varies from unison songs through to popular and well-loved pieces in harmony.

Reading music and previous choir experience is simply not important. The Good Afternoon Choirs perform at concerts and enjoy music making and, making new friends. Membership is a termly fee to include music and all this will be explained on the member's form when you come along to find out about the Choir in your area. There is no charge to come to your first rehearsal and Celia Holland will be the accompanist.

Ruth Jenkins graduated in Music at Birmingham University, specialising in voice and conducting the University Chamber Choir. Ruth spent the last 12 years teaching music in schools and sings for her local church. Ruth looks forward to conducting North Somerset GAC!

The choir members choose the local charity they wish to support each year and in 2019, over £22,000 was raised for many local charities and organisations.

There are now 19 Good Afternoon Choirs across the South West with over 900 members. The email address for all choir correspondence is gac@grenvillemusic.co.uk – there is no charge for attendance at the first rehearsal. Everyone is welcome! Find a choir near you.
